Forty years' experience, in every climate, has proved Avery's Cough Remedy to be the most reliable remedy for colds, coughs, and lung diseases. Colds should not be neglected. The Remedy will prevent their becoming degenerated to the system.

In the examination in Justice Clark Court yesterday of W. H. Smith, Co. Herring informed via court and counsel for F. & M. that he could give them the address of Mr. Bair if they so desired. Mr. Goodrich thanked the Colonel and asked him if he could also give the address of Mr. Raymond. The Colonel informed counsel for the prosecution that they would have an opportunity to see Mr. Raymond during the examination.

LIBRARY ENTERTAINMENT.

Schiffelt hall was fairly well filled yesterday, with our citizens and their families, to listen to the programme of entertainment prepared by the directors of the public library. The entertainment was opened with a few remarks by Judge C. S. Clark, who afterwards introduced Mrs. J. Brown, who played a piano solo and rendered it exceedingly well. This was followed by a sonata.

"Who will buy my roses red," by Miss Ellis, and it was well received. The recitation by Miss Herring which was the next on the programme, was very fine, and the young lady proved herself to be an excellent oratorian. A vocal duet by Miss Betty Schoenfeld and Master Herbert Schoenfeld was excellent and the little folks were the recipients of many compliments. The instrumental piece of Misses. Burns and O'Connor or Mr. Zehner, was excellent and proved the pianists to be masters of their instruments; the reading of Samuels O'Brien by John P. Dunn was in that gentleman's usual happy vein. The instrumental piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. Springer, was splendid and received an encore; the vocal quartette by the Cornish Gee club was fine and was enthusiastically received by the audience. The recitation of Miss Wallace was very well rendered; a song by Mrs. Hawking was exceedingly well rendered. The gem of the evening as well as the end of the programme was a very difficult selection, "Liszt," by Miss Clark. The execution and touch of this young lady proved her to be a musician of no mean order.

All those who were present enjoyed a very pleasant evening, and those who failed to attend, missed a treat. The net proceeds of the entertainment was $69 dollars, leaving a clear $39 for the benefit of the library.

A DEADLY CANCER.

It is time to sound the typographic tocsin. These Chinese printing offices are in full blast in this city fully equipped with type and presses, doing commercial work and employing white men. The latter feature will, without a doubt, be changed to the color of smoke, ham just as sooty cinders can be trained to take their place.

Heretofore, the printing industry had been secure from any invasion of their business by the ignorant pagans, as there have been but few cases of Chinese help employed in the offices, and these were for the most menial work. But the silent Mongols have been keeping their ears and eyes open, and hoarding their cash, till Presto! the Chinese printing office appears in San Francisco and boldly competes for the "Molican" trade.

Notwithstanding the beggarly prices ruling the trade here, we venture to say that it is only a question of time when the Chinese will take over the entire Chinatown and the rest of the city.

That the Apache will, in time, invade every branch of business, and absorb the productive wealth of our fair country, is fully believed by many intelligent people. Like the insects of Egypt, they leave nothing behind, but make a clean path of destruction. Like a cancer, this little sore spot will gradually and surely, till commercial death, results.

Immediately upon discovery of the disease, is the time to consider the remedy. If cancer is ever cured, it is at the very earliest part of its existence. This typographic cancer requires prompt and vigorous treatment. What shall it be?

A printer friend at our elbow suggests dynamite!

We do not require any barbarous agent to accomplish the end desired. Let every printer in business refuse to allow a Chinaman to work in his office, and also refuse to give employment to any white man who has worked in a Chinese office. Form a club, Sodality, man who puts up a pistol, and let the entire fraternity withdraw their trade from that man, and use their influence with others to the same end. It will make his job printing expensive, if he gets it for nothing.

There may be some better plan; and we will be pleased to hear of any that may be to solve the problem.—Pacific Printer.

CARD OF THANKS.

At a meeting of Tombstone Lodge No. 2 A. O. U. W., held last night, the following resolution was introduced and carried unanimously:

Resolved, That the members of this lodge hereby extend to the lodges and all who sincerely contributed and assisted in the work of getting up the entertainment held on Wednesday eve last, the thanks of this Lodge, and that a copy of this resolution be published in the daily papers.

After breakfast, to make yourself happy, go to Aspinwall & Walker's and purchase a choice imported cigar.

The Pioneer mills flour, Sacramento, is the best in the market. For sale at the Cash Store of WALCOTT & MESSICK.

Read the advertisement of the Southern Musical Institute which appears in another column.

Martin O'Langella was taken very sick yesterday and placed in the hospital under the care of Dr. Willis.

The Sheriff of Socorro County, New Mexico, has telegraphed Sheriff Hatch that he will arrive in this city to-morrow, with the necessary papers for the custody of G. A. Parker.

The Tucson Star is now being run by an incorporated company with L. C. Higgins as editor.

The fiesta of San Augustine is being celebrated in Tucson. The local paper states that it is not a success in point of numbers.

Four buggies, two spring wagons and a number of horses and mules, the property of N. E. Warrington, arrived in this city from Silver City yesterday and will remain at his Silver City stables in this city hereafter.

The 300 yard race last evening in Charleston between the Charleston sorority and the Huachina Apache was won by the sorority more, as Samuel M. Clarence, our Charleston correspondent is reporting gone broke, owing to the fact that he bet on the wrong horse.

Norman W. Ward, who has been a resident of this city for the past five years, and late owner of Antelope Spring ranch will take his departure to-morrow morning for his old home in South Bend Indiana. Previous to going east, Mr. Ward will go to California and visit friends and relatives in the Golden state.

We wish him bon voyage, and hope that he will again take up his home in the land of sunshine and silver.

ATTEND TO IT.

We have on two or three occasions called the attention of the health officer to the horrible smells arising from the yards back of the old Grand hotel property and in other portions of town, but nothing has been done by him to abate the nuisance. We now repeat the statement that the stench arising from the quarter named and also in the yards back of Fifth street, and Allen street are in a deplorable condition and we demand that the health officer enforces the law and see that these pestilential breeding spots are removed, no matter at what cost. We make this demand on behalf of the citizens of Tombstone whose lives are threatened every minute by breathing this poison air. There are already some of our citizens dying and it's door, with the malaria caused by nothing else in the world, from the cause that's as from these hells breeding back yards. Some of our citizens are now sleeping the long sleep in the cemetery and it had not been for the filthy condition of our city they might be alive and well today. There is a law to enforce the cleanliness of backyards etc. and it should be enforced—it must be enforced, and by the health officer at once, no matter who it costs. In conversation with the attorney, he stated that it was the health officer's duty to notify parties to clean their premises, and if they failed to do it, the law empowered him to have it done at the owner's expense. If this is true, and we have no reason to doubt it, we call upon Mr. O'Connor to examine every yard in this city and order them cleaned, their expenses emitted and funded, so that our citizens will not be stuck down with that deadly malaria every day.

THE SAFE ROBBERY.

The testimony of J. C. Fitzhenry concluded.

Entered by the front door by unlocking the door and walking in; there was no person here at that time, but myself and family to my knowledge. I don't remember if any one came in at that time. I don't remember if any one purchased some matches or a candle; there might have been. I saw a portion of our own money in the drawer. Saturday night, previous to the robbery, the envelopes were longer than the little shelf key rest on, and were conspicuous, and I noticed them stick out when I locked the door; the envelopes were not in the drawer, they were in a pigeon hole above the drawer, but shelf is the bottom of the pigeon hole. The $300 of our own money was three denominations—gold, silver and notes—if I remember right; I did not keep any memorandum of the amount of money. I don't remember how much was in silver. A portion of the money was put in Saturday night on cash drawn, and the other accumulated from time to time. I don't remember the exact amount I put in Saturday night, about $12 or $15, the rest accumulated from day to day. I know Edward Caylor; I had money in my drawer of Caylor's on deposit. (Court now admits certain evidence and is witness to defence). The drawer was not on the counter when Caylor came in to get some money changed. I remember it emphatically, he did ask for change of a $20 note, he wanted four $5 notes, that I hesitated, and told him I could not give it to him in that way as change was very scarce; after considering I told him I had a package that had notes that I could open and would accommodate him, which I did; Caylor's own money was entirely in $20 pieces, so I could not change it out of his sack. I took the change out of Caylor's package and put it $20, but in its place. I did not have the drawer, and while Caylor was there I had Caylor's package. He was not standing in a position to look into the safe, the door of course had to be open; I took Caylor's package from the pigeon hole where it was usually kept; I did not take the package from the drawer. Emphatically no, I was not pressed for money and did not go to my friends and try to borrow money to meet my obligations. I don't know anything about Martin's money, neither of the Martins, any more than they had two packages, there was a canvas sack sold to George Martin; I did not take the sack in; I saw an envelope, a large envelope with Tom Martin's name on it; as to its contents I do not know. The packages, the depositors' names never was in the drawer to my knowledge, but in the pigeon hole. I furnished Henry Raymond with a room over the store at the time of the robbery; I can't say as to whether he occupied the room or not, he was supposed to occupy the room, I did not know Henry Raymond before he came to Tombstone, he claims to have seen me at the Police Hotel in Frisco. Had a few words with Hall about this robbery before he gave his testimony. It was before the arrest of Smith at F. & M. store; I spoke possibly about one dozen words to Hall at the F. & M. store; I had a conversation first with Hall.

RE-PRIEST.

I said Caylor had money in the drawer; I mean the last money in the pigeon hole of safe.

Court then adjourned until Monday at 1 p. m.

Arnold's Wood Yard, Corner Eighth and Safford Streets.

Dry cord and stove wood at lowest rates. Leave orders with Arnold's express wagon.

OFFICE: East Side of Fourth Street between 12th and 13th Streets.
